reminds me of Margaret Truman's "Murder at the National Gallery."

KurzbeschreibungA museum curator travels to Italy and looks into a murder in this fresh, funny [and] thoroughly enjoyable mystery by the author of the Gideon Oliver series (Publishers Weekly). Mildmannered and lawabiding, Chris Norgren, curator of Renaissance and Baroque art at the Seattle Art Museum, is an unlikely undercover investigator, but when a priceless Rubens portrait is discovered in a shipment of authentic reproductions in a local warehouse, Chris is pressed into service to find out how it got there. The quest leads him to the medieval city of Bologna, one of his favorite places, but all too soon what might have been a welcome Italian interlude turns into a bizarre journey into shady art world doings and murderous secrets . . .
