HERMAN HAS TOUCHED ON A PART OF OUR COUNTRIES MILITARY THAT THOSE WHO HAVE NEVER SERVED MAY NOT REALIZE. SUCH AS OUR INVOLVMENT IN EL SALVIDOR AND NICARAGUA TO JUST MENTION A

COUPLE... MR HERMAN'S IN DEPTH COVERAGE OF A COVERT OPERATION AND HIS PERSONAL TOUCHES WITH THE INTERMINGLING OF THE CHARACTERS LENDS TO A SMOOTH DELIVERY OF THE MAIN AND SECONDARY STORY LINES.....BRAVO BRAVO MR. HERMAN FOR YOUR VERY REALISTIC DELIVERY OF THIS ACTION THRILLER.....HIS MILITARY KNOWLEDGE ALSO LENT ITSELF TO THE AUTHENTICITY OF THIS ADVENTURE BOOK. THE SERIES HAS BEEN A PLEASURE TO READ AND A,"CAN'T PUT IT DOWN" TYPE OF READING PLEASURE... I LOOK FORWARD TO YOUR FUTURE WORKS!

Dark Wing was OK, but definitely not Mr. Herman's best. It was the first A-10 novel I've come across, and the flight scenes were excellent, however they only made up a small portion of the book, with the rest occupied with various other subplots, many of which I felt weren't needed for the story. The whole thing with Kamigami formulating all his strategy based on his girlfriend's dreams and predictions of the future seemed a wee bit far-fetched, and didn't add much, if anything, to the story. Still, it's essential reading for any Herman fan.

Von Ein Kunde
The actions and combat scenes are great, but the story is not as smooth as Iron Gate. Too many sub-plots hurt the flow of the story. However, Richard Herman fans and readers who love action-packed military stories will enjoy the read. It also gives the readers who intend to read Iron Gate more back ground info about the main characters.

Kurzbeschreibung
One of the best adventure writers around. - Clive Cussler
Colonel Matt Pontowski and his top-notch wing are thrust into the fiery heart of civil-war-torn China in Richard Hermans gripping technothriller, Dark Wing.
Now in command of the 303rd Fighter Squadron, Colonel Matt Pontowski, grandson of a former U.S. President, attempts to boost the morale of his pilots who know their killer A-10 Warthog aircraft are due to be phased out. When trouble erupts in Hong Kong and southern China, his wing volunteers for a dangerous undercover mission against the worlds most feared and volatile super-power. A massacre is looming and millions of innocent people are at risk. Pontowski and his volunteers are now reluctant to withdraw, despite orders, as they initiate their own plans to overthrow the brutal regime that has been gaining power. Meanwhile back in Washington, National Security Advisor Bill Carroll, Asia specialist Mazie Kamigami and assistant Wentworth Hazelton fight to ensure plans go accordingly. Mazie is stunned when the conflict brings her closer to her estranged father Victor Kamigami and his lover Jin Chu, an ethereal young fortune teller. The fate of Hong Kong and the survival of the squadron depends upon the flying skills of all the ace pilots, including the beautiful Denise Skeeter Ashton. Along with the Junkyard Dogs they exploit the situation to achieve what they now know has to be done. Pontowski knows the presence of the pilots is resented and there are those whose cruel ambition will stop at nothing to remove them, when faced with assassination he is not surprised but he never imagines who else is at risk... Eventually revenge drives him to finish what he started... Praise for Richard Herman
A really fast- moving air force adventure story, with some superb action scenes which glue you to your seat - Bookseller
This is the sharp end, with vivid descriptions of air combat, the smell of hot oil and fear - The Times
Gripping story service politics, aerial combat and sharply drawn characterisation combine to make a first-rate action novel - Yorkshire Evening Post
Truly edge-of-the-seat exciting- Manchester Guardian full of colour and character - Dale Brown, author of Flight of the Old Dog
Richard Herman Jnr himself a former pilot with 200 combat missions under his belt spins a superb web of tension - Oxford Times
Richard Herman retired from the US Air Force in 1983 with the rank of Major after serving for twenty- one years. He has flown over 200 combat missions himself and was stationed in Vietnam, West Germany and Great Britain. He has flown the F-4 and C-130 and received five medals, including the Bronze Star. He and his English-born wife now live in Fair Oaks,

California.
