Vampirismus, Drama und groe GefhleVon LoveLetter MagazinFBI Agentin Diana Reyes und Club Besitzer Ryder sind seit circa zwei Jahren ein Paar, doch ihre Beziehung ist kompliziert. Das mag daran liegen, dass Diana ein

Mensch und Ryder ein Vampir ist. Als Dianas Schwägerin und ihre Freundin schwanger werden, bringen deren Familiengründungen Diana ins Grbeln. Sie stellt sich Fragen bezglich ihrer eigenen Lebensplanung. Ryder, obgleich ihre groe Liebe, wird nie in der Lage sein, ihr ein normales Leben zu bieten. So schmerzlich es auch ist, beendet sie ihre Beziehung zu ihm. Als ihre schwangere beste Freundin kaltbltig ermordet wird, wird sie zur Aufklrung hinzugezogen. Doch nicht nur sie, auch ihr Ex-Freund Alexandro wird am Fall mitarbeiten. Diana wirft sich in die Arbeit und ist sich schon bald ihrer Gefhle nicht mehr im Klaren. Dies ist bereits der 4. Teil einer Serie. Entsprechend wird eine gewisse Vorkenntnis bezglich der Charaktere vom Leser vorausgesetzt. Das Buch ist in erster Linie die Studie des inneren Konflikts der Protagonistin, ob sie nun weiter mit ihrer groen Liebe dem Vampir zusammen bleibt oder wieder eine "normale" Liebesbeziehung, mit dem Ziel einer Familiengrndung, eingeht. Pineiro vereint Vampirismus, Drama und groe Gefhle mit aufklrender Polizeiarbeit. Der Vampirismus wird zwar nicht weiter erklrt aber die Charaktere machen Spa und die Gefhle von Vampiren und Menschen sind glaubhaft dargestellt. Die parallel laufenden FBI-Ermittlungen drften auch Freunde des Romantic-Suspense-Genres ansprechen. Insgesamt wirkt die Komposition der Geschichte mitunter nicht ganz rund, was vermuten lsst, dass man vielleicht doch die vorangegangenen Teile vorher gelesen haben sollte. Von Detra Fitch FBI Agent Diana Reyes and her partner, David, were investigating a money-laundering operation when they stumbled upon a CIA case. There had been an experimental prototype for a hand-held smart bomb delivery system stolen from a military base, along with the warheads for same. The Cuban Democratic Army "CDA" purchased the stolen weapon. (The CDA is a domestic paramilitary group.) Rupert, with the CIA, must work with Diana and her team in tracking down the stolen items before they are used. It is obvious from the beginning that Rupert does not like the fact that Diana is the Special Agent in Charge instead of himself, but he must deal with his own ego about it. At the same time, Diana is dealing with her unusual personal life. Diana's boyfriend is Ryder Latimer, a vampire. When she fell in love with him a couple of years ago, she knew that there were things she would give up, such as never having children. Now that she is seeing her friends pregnant, Diana is not so sure that it is a fair trade after all. Even her brother and his wife is due to have their first child any day now. Diana needs some time and space away from Ryder to think. Ryder is not happy with Diana putting some distance between them, but his honor forces him to give her the time and space she requests. Seeing her with an old college boyfriend hurts, but this is for Diana to decide. Ryder is soon busy dealing with Stacia who has arrived in the area. She is one of the elders, over two thousand years old. With her strong powers, she can manipulate anyone's mind to do her bidding, even other vampires, and she has set her sights on Ryder. Ryder still manages to keep an eye on Diana and her safety. As much as possible anyway. Diana has forced Ryder to promise that should something happen to her, he would let her die and not turn her into a vampire. But even as Ryder makes the vow, he wonders if he would be able to keep it. ***** Out-freaking-standing! Nocturne is a brand new line of paranormal romances by Silhouette. It looks like author Caridad Pieiro will help be a big help in making it a smashing success. I found myself hooked from the very first page. Do yourself a favor and make sure you have plenty of reading time before you open the cover. I did not stop reading until the entire story was completed. I riveting masterpiece. *****

Kurzbeschreibung When FBI agent Diana Reyes fell in love with Ryder Latimer, she knew that there were things she would give up. For the passion her vampire lover brought into her life, it seemed a fair trade. Now she isn't so sure. The darkness vampires walk in wakes something inside her, something that frightens her even as it excites. Something that makes her wish for a more "normal" life. Ryder understands her fears and has fears of his own: of losing her, of the void that would fill him without her. But when a case draws Diana into a purely human darkness, Ryder must make a decision: Can he let her go? Or will he step between her and death, no matter if she hates him afterward?
